Rachel Chalada - Darwin's Young Citizen of the Year

Darwin's Young Citizen of the Year, announced on Australia Day, is our very own Rachel Chalada. Rachel was representing the NT and the Darwin SLSC in Sydney at surf lifesaving competitions when the announcement was made by Lord Mayor Graeme Sawyer. She's had an awesome 2009 season resulting in being awarded U17 Lifesaver of the Year at the Darwin Surf Life Saving Club, being the youngest member of the SLSNT Search & Rescue Team and currently completing the suite of advanced lifesaving awards and tests needed for her lifeguard qualification. Last weekend Rachel represented the NT in the Interstate Team and spent Australia Day at Freshwater Beach in Sydney where she gained valuable competition experience in beach and surf events. Rachel is a truly multi-talented competitor with a bag of Territory medals to her credit in surf life saving events as diverse as swimming, surfboat rowing, board paddling, beach sprinting and various relays with her clubmates. Rachel is a committed and dedicated lifesaver, always helping with club and SLSNT activities to promote water safety and lifesaving skills. She has a great future in Surf Life Saving - congratulations Rachel !!!!

Interstate Team Score Hatrick with Handicap Shield Win

At the SLSA Interstate Championships the NT Team won the Handicap Shield for the third year in a row. This year a new 2-day format of pool competition at the Waringah Aquatic centre followed by ocean and beach events at Collaroy Beach provided a great showcase for the nation's top lifesaving athletes. Our core team of Michael Collins, Carney Broadbent, Rachel Chalada, Thanh Thanh Thai, Peter Selten, Carrie Selten, Xaviera Farrell, Joanna Jarden and Natasha Breen were complimented by a pool of extremely talented competitors drafted from NSW. Throughout the competition the performance levels were awesome and inspiring but it was host state NSW that couldn't be beaten in the overall pointscore despite strong and determined efforts from QLD lead by surf stars such as Shannon Eckstein. This Interstate Team format will be repeated in Sydney for the next 2 years.

Surf Life Saving promoted on Australia Day

It doesn't get more Aussie than this - Surf Life Saving activities at the Darwin Waterfront on Australia Day! A big thankyou to Bob Creek and his team of helpers for making it all happen and promoting Surf Life Saving to the Darwin public.

See Awesome Ironmen and Ironwomen this Sunday on Channel 7
